Election of GMA Chapter Officers

Vice President (2017-2018)

Yunshan Ye
Write In

Bio Statement:

My name is Yunshan Ye, currently serving as librarian for Political Science, International Studies, and East Asian Studies at Johns Hopkins University. During my past decade long library career, I have benefited tremendously from professional organizations such as CALA. As early as 2004, at the very start of my career, I was awarded one of the first Sally Tseng Research Grants by the Library of Congress. The grant became a stepping stone for other subsequent awards which led to the publication of a well-received reference book, The ALA Guide to Researching Modern China, published by the American Library Association (The ALA Editions). I have since worked in both smaller, liberal arts college library (Dickinson College) and larger research institution (JHU). My work ranges from traditional librarianship such as collection development, reference, library instruction; to more cutting edge areas of digitization and web archiving (I was the PI for a two-year grant project of archiving Chinese social media). In the past, I have served as Editor in Chief of CALA Occasional Paper Series (201214). With my varied work experiences, I am looking forward to contributing more to CALA and its regional branch, CALA GMA chapter.
